Wally Byam,
Airstream founder

Two American icons. One unforgettable way to explore.

With over 160 years of combined experience bringing quality products to generations of outdoor enthusiasts, Eddie Bauer and Airstream are two iconic brands steeped in the American traditions of innovation and adventure.

The legacies of both companies come to life through the stories of their founders – two legendary men, each with a bold vision and a passion for the out-of-doors. Accomplished Seattle outdoorsman Eddie Bauer opened his first sport shop in 1920 and quickly earned a reputation as a premier outfitter and innovator. In 1931, pioneer manufacturer Wally Byam designed and built the original Airstream trailer. Byam's insightful invention led to the rise of an exciting, new lifestyle of adventure travel – a lifestyle that is still enjoyed by thousands today. Considering their shared heritage and passions, it seemed only natural when the two companies recently came together to collaborate on the first-ever Eddie Bauer Airstream.

By combining the best of both brands, the Eddie Bauer Airstream is ready to rekindle America's spirit of adventure. We think Wally and Eddie would approve.
